Flying Circus Blanc De Noirs 2023

Pinot Noir & Chardonnay - Bottle £49.95 - Flute £15

Before 2023 we typically reserved our Pinot Noir and Chardonnay blend for a sparkling rosé, but this year we decided to create our first Blanc de Noirs. While traditional regions like Champagne require a 100% Pinot Noir base, England allows more flexibility, so our expression focuses on a Pinot-dominant blend crafted as a white wine with minimal skin contact compared to our rosé. 2023 proved an excellent year for Pinot Noir, giving us a great balance of acidity and sugar despite challenges from Spotted Wing Drosophila, a troublesome fruit fly we now manage far more effectively with organic methods. After two years resting on the lees, the wine is tasting fantastic, and we're thrilled to release it alongside one of our favourite labels, featuring the iconic Sopwith Camel fighter aircraft from WWI—a nod to my Dad's Great-Grandad who helped design it, and to all who served. The label was created with Bryn Parry CBE, renowned cartoonist and co-founder of Help for Heroes, adding another layer of history to this special bottle. Perfect with a Sunday-morning bacon sandwich or a smoked joint of beef on a summer afternoon.

Sundowners Sparkling Ruby Rosé 2024

Pinotin & Solaris - Bottle - £35 Flute - £12

The nose boasts strawberry, blackcurrant and gentle floral notes, leading into a palate full of bright red fruit, fragrant bitters, crème de cassis and a playful hint reminiscent of Lilt. Despite 2024 being an exceptionally difficult, rain-soaked year with low yields and challenging conditions at every stage, only the best bunches were hand-selected, resulting in a crisp, dry sparkling wine with lifted aromatics, summer-fruit character and a lighter colour in the glass. With a higher proportion of Solaris adding freshness and vibrancy, this vintage delivers a surprisingly charming fizz that's easy to enjoy and perfect for sharing.
